2.0 Support a Free and Democratic Iraq

- UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan announced May 31 that Iraqi authorities have requested UN assistance in drafting and building consensus around the country's new constitution.
- On June 5, the Constitutional Drafting Committee's vice president, Adnan Janabi, said the committee has agreed to bring in additional representatives Iraq's Sunni Arab community; negotiations are continuing on specifics.

3.0 Provide Essential Services

- IRMO and USAID are working with the Iraqi Ministry of Health to conduct a national immunization campaign during the week of June 18 to vaccinate children for polio.

[1.0] Transition to Security Self-Reliance – Iraqi Security Forces

Iraqi Security Forces Update:

- The Iraqi Police Service graduated 121 police officers from advanced and specialty courses at the Adnan Training Facility June 2. The courses consist of Basic Criminal Investigations with 58 graduates, Critical Incident Management with 29 graduates, Counter Terrorism Investigations with 18 graduates, and Executive Leadership with 16 graduates. Officers who participated in these courses previously completed either an eight-week basic training course for new recruits or a three-week 'transitional integration program' course designed for prior-service officers.
- On June 2, command of the Kirkuk Military Training Base was transferred from MNSTC-I to Iraqi Brig. Gen. Abd Zaid. The contract that provides support to the base will not be officially transferred to Iraq's Ministry of Defense until July, but decisions about how the base operates – everything from dealing with emergencies and its defense to managing civilian employees and contracts – are now Abd Zaid's responsibility.
- The Direct Recruit Replacement (DRR) program started by the Iraqi Army is now in use for its Navy, which began training its first 213 recruits May 22 for anti-terrorist operations and oil terminal security. The Iraqi Navy DRR program is similar to US Marine Corps during boot camp, beginning with a four-week stretch of strenuous physical exercises, along with instruction on handling and maintaining medium and heavy machine guns.

Transitional National Assembly (TNA) Update:

- A USAID partner conducted its fourth general orientation session for 17 TNA members focused on the role of individual members of a legislature in a democratic society and tools to become effective representatives of the people. Special topics included basic parliamentary functions and duties, rights and responsibilities of TNA members, powers and privileges, interpersonal skills development, and the importance of information-gathering and tools for public outreach. The seminar also included a presentation on the role of caucuses.

Continuing Transitional National Assembly (TNA) Responsibilities:

- Serve as Iraq's national legislature until the election of a new government under a permanent constitution.
- According to the Transitional Administrative Law, the TNA is to draft Iraq's new Constitution by August 15, 2005; this will be presented to the Iraqi people for their approval in a national referendum by October 15, 2005.
- If it is approved, an election for a permanent Iraqi government under that new Constitution will occur by the end of 2005.

Promoting Civil Society:

- Iraq Civil Society and Media Support Program (ICSP) activities are proving popular with Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) in the north. A proposal writing workshop was held one day after the assassination of Mosul's Director General for Anti-Corruption. A total of 29 participants from different ethnicities and religious backgrounds -- including Muslims, Christians, Azidis, Sabians, Arabs and Kurds -- were involved in this training. Participants refused to postpone the workshop because of the assassination, even though movement was severely restricted for security reasons. Participants also noted that ICSP is the only program focused on promoting civil society in this violence prone city.

 - Total water treatment capacity to be added from PCO projects is approximately 1.4 million cubic meters per day, which will benefit 2.5 million Iraqis.
- USAID is constructing a new water treatment plant to increase quantity and quality of potable water to Sadr City and surrounding areas of Baghdad. Current plans call for construction of a 25-million-gallons-per-day (MGD) plant versus a 20 MGD due to lower than expected costs. Extensive operations and maintenance (O&M) training will be provided to the plant's O&M staff as a part of this project.
 - The project is now 15 percent complete and is projected to be completed in August of 2006.
- As of June 1, USAID has completed 20 potable water treatment and distribution projects, with 85 more underway. 15 sewer treatment and distribution projects have also been completed, with 4 underway. The Rural Water Initiative, representing 81 of the 85 potable water projects still underway, will provide potable water to approximately 500,000 Iraqis throughout Iraq. When all of USAID's potable and sewer water projects are complete, they will have provided treatment capacity for an additional 8 million Iraqis.

- Construction is underway on 143 new primary health care (PHC) facilities across Iraq. Under the AIRP, an additional two PHCs are under construction and eight have been completed.
- Foundation construction is in its final stages at the site of the new Basrah Children's Hospital. Proposed as a 94-bed hospital, this $50 million facility is designed to focus on providing inpatient and outpatient pediatric healthcare for the city of Basrah. The hospital is expected to be completed in September 2006.
- The Minister of Health is seeking to establish a national campaign to vaccinate children against polio in June and July. Polio has not been a concern in Iraq for several years, however, the potential of the virus importing from nearby countries with ongoing outbreaks, particularly in Sudan and Yemen, has initiated the support of the campaign. The Ministry has developed plans with the assistance from the USG, WHO, and UNICEF to support these activities.
